

Kurt W. Hyde is the Assistant Inspector General for Surface and Maritime Programs for the U.S. Department of Transportation, and oversees auditing efforts for Department activities related to highways, railroads, transit systems, vehicle safety, and maritime transportation. The Office of Inspector General is mandated to keep the Secretary of Transportation and Congress informed of the effectiveness and efficiency of Department programs and operations by issuing audit reports and management advisories containing findings and recommendations. More than $50 billion in transportation program spending is under his audit control.

At the Office of Inspector General, Mr. Hyde has overseen performance audits of Federally funded transportation programs administered by the Federal Highway Administration, the Federal Transit Administration, the Federal Railroad Administration, the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration, the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, the Maritime Administration, and others. Some of the topics covered by these audits include Boston's Central Artery/Tunnel Project, Puerto Rico's Tren Urbano transit rail system, Amtrak's operations, and railroad-highway crossing safety.

A Certified Public Accountant and Certified Government Financial Manager, Mr. Hyde began his government career as an Audit Manager for the U.S. General Accounting Office, and later was detailed to the United States House of Representatives Commerce Committee's Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations, where he investigated property and casualty insurance company failures. Later he was Deputy Assistant Inspector General for Audit at the Resolution Trust Corporation. From 1997 to 2004, Mr. Hyde worked in the private sector, first as Lead Partner in the Government Services Channel and Customer Solutions for Andersen LLP, and then as a Partner in Worldwide Government Services for Customer Relationship Management Solutions at Unisys Corporation.
